Caisson Ready for Building Bridge Pier Near Spot Where Dredge Digs

White arrow shows steel caisson ready to hold cofferdam in Hudson river for building of concrete pier to support new bridge on west side of stream at Ulster Landing, near Star Brick Company yard, just over the hill on road in photo. The barge, Rose M. Feeney, afloat off the scene of construction, transported steel from Bethlehem Steel Company, Lackawanna.

This dredge from Merritt, Chapman & Scott is digging silt from Hudson river off the South Fltgbush shore in preparation for sinking steel caisson to hold cofferdam for construction of concrete pier to support new bridge that will be a connecting link for eastern traffic bound for new state thruway on west side. British Wine, Dine Soviet Premier And Russian Leader Joins Toast to Queen and 'Coexistence'

Moscow, Aug. 12 (AP)—The British Embassy wine and dined Premier Georgi Malenkov and other top Soviet officials last night as its part of the Moscow social whirl for former Prime Minister Clement Attlee and six other visiting Labor party leaders.

It was Malenkov's first visit to a western embassy, and more evidence of the Soviet effort to win Britain closer to Russia and away from solid alliance with the United States.

The party ate, exchanged champagne toasts and talked until well after 1 a. m. The Russian premier joined in Ambassador Sir William Hayter's traditional British drink to the health of Queen Elizabeth II, then proposed his own toast to "peaceful coexistence."

Talk With Britons
The guests, who included Communist party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and other top Soviet officials, talked with the Britons for an hour and a half after dinner. Commenting on the unusual length of the after dinner conversation, one of the visiting Laborites, party chairman Wilfred Burke, said: "The liquid was Scotch but the conviviality was Irish."

Burke added that he was convinced Malenkov is "very, very friendly" and "very anxious to establish peaceful relations with the western powers."

The Labor party delegation leaves tonight for Peiping and a three-week visit to Communist China. They arrived in Moscow Monday.

Dinner at Villa

The Soviets began their attention to the visitors—unprecedented in postwar years—with a dinner Tuesday night at a country villa 22 miles from Moscow. Malenkov attended that function also and amazed the guests by plucking a bouquet in the garden for the Labor group's only woman member, Dr. Edith Summerskill, former national insurance minister.

Dr. Summerskill did not reciprocate last night. "No more bouquets have been picked," she told reporters as she left the embassy.

Today the visiting Britons toured the Kremlin palaces, churches and museums, and visited the tomb of Lenin and Stalin to view the embalmed bodies of the two Soviet leaders.

Attlee, however, dropped away from the group before they went to the tomb. Pleading fatigue, he went back to the British Embassy to rest.

Just as the British group arrived at the mausoleum, Soviet authorities placed a wreath of gladioli at the tomb entrance. British sources said it was entirely a Soviet gesture, not a tribute by the Britons.

Merchants Happy At Sales Results Of August Event

Some Report Response 'Spectacular'; Is on for Two Days Additional

Early results as Kingston's three-day August Sales got underway were highly pleasing to local merchants, a spot check by The Freeman late this morning indicated.

Some reported spectacular results. "A tremendous sale!" said Leonard C. Scales, manager of J. C. Penney and Co., 318 Wall street. "We can't even handle the crowd."

"We never had anything as big as this," Oscar London of London's Youth Centre and Junior Bazaar, 33 North Front street, told The Freeman. "It's so jammed I never saw anything like it."

'Jammed'—'Wonderful'
Clyde E. Wonderly, Jr., of The Wonderly Co., Inc., 314 Wall street, said, "We're jammed—all four floors."

He reported the sale as the best he had seen so far and expressed confidence it would "end up as good as last year."

'Wonderful!'—James L. Rowe, president and treasurer of Rowe's Shoe Store, 34 John street, "We feel good about it," he said.

Explaining that he began his sale yesterday morning, a day earlier than the rest of the city, he commented, "We were busy from the time we opened until the time we closed."

He praised The Freeman display advertising, saying that the fine results had been "brought out" by that medium. He pointed out also that the store offered "a wonderful bargain . . . fine values."

Vincent Burns, manager of Montgomery Ward and Co., 25 North Front street, said sales were "very good. There's a lot of traffic and people are really buying. . . . From the looks of it the sale will be very successful."

Charles Fabiano, manager of Union Fern, Inc., 328 Wall street, also reported sales "very good." He said they were a "little better" than last year.

O'Dwyer added the new inquiry also might involve $5,000 he entered as an expense deduction on his tax return while serving here as ambassador.

In New York, Paul O'Dwyer said yesterday that questions about the ex-mayor's tax returns were "old hat" and "it's election year."

"It's open season," Paul O'Dwyer said, "on all Democrats and all Communists and everybody the Senate points a finger at, and that's a lot for any tax court to handle."

He added that it is now up to the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to prove any charges, and that his brother will travel to New York for tax hearings if he is needed. The ex-mayor, now practicing law in Mexico City, has not been back to New York since he resigned the ambassadorship just after President Eisenhower's election in 1952.

Victory Regarded as Indicating Stability in Brazil

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Aug. 12 (AP)—Tough old Getulio Vargas—appeared today to have surmounted one of the gravest crises of his long, turbulent career.

The 71-year-old leader apparently has weathered a wave of military and civil unrest that might have forced his resignation. That he could survive it was seen as an omen of future political stability for Brazil.

But it may be one of the last major battles for the wily old politician. His term expires Jan. 31, 1956, and under Brazil's constitution he cannot run again until five years—one term—later. By then he would be 77 years old.

Assassination Attempt
The crisis was touched off by an assassination attempt last Thursday on anti-Vargas editor Carlos Lacerda, in which a popular air force officer, Maj. Ruben Vaz, was killed. When employees at the presidential palace were linked to the crime, Vargas was accused of laxity. Two persons were injured in rioting yesterday.

But an end to the threat to the President was indicated by these events:
1. Vargas was flying today to Belo Horizonte to inaugurate a new German-built steel mill and to make a speech there tonight. Observers figured the President would hardly risk leaving the capital unless assured of the military's support.

2. Military leaders themselves were summoned to a meeting this morning with War Minister Zenobio Da Costa. A military spokesman said the group, including all the generals in the zone, would discuss United action in upholding the constitutional requirement that they back the presidency.

Are Under Arrest
3. Three air force officers, including a major general, are under disciplinary arrest for "voicing criticism injurious to the government and Congress."

Decisive army and police action quelling yesterday's rioting also indicated continued military support for Vargas. Police moved in quickly to break up the anti-Vargas mob with tear gas, noise bombs and fire hoses. Last night Justice Minister Tancredo Neves said reports from all parts of the capital indicated calm has been restored.

Vargas generally is not blamed personally for the assassination attempt. His opponents called for his ouster on the ground he (Continued on Page 25, Col. 4)

Patrolman Dies At Lake Placid

Lake Placid, Aug. 12 (AP)—Patrolman Richard Pelkey, 31, one of the three patrolmen wounded by a gun-wielding burglar still hunted by police, died today.

Pelkey was shot in the chest last Thursday as the unidentified desperado battled "his way out of a summer home where the patrolman had discovered him."

Pelkey died in Saranac Lake General Hospital as about 150 police and volunteers continued their search for the fugitive and concentrated on woods south of the Mt. Van Hoevenberg bobsled run.

Pelkey, a World War 2 veteran, leaves a wife, Ruth, and two small children, Richard and Lee. He joined the Lake Placid force in 1946.

The conditions of the other wounded patrolmen, Dominick Valenze and J. Bernard Fell, were reported improved.

Polio Cases Are Below Average

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—New polio cases over the nation totaled 1,612 last week, up less than 10 per cent over the preceding week at a time of the season when the jump each week is usually anywhere from 20 to 35 per cent.

Reporting this today, the Public Health Service said there have been 10,797 cases this year so far, compared with 13,224 in the similar 1952 span and 11,710 in the comparative 1953 period.

For the disease year, which began about April 1, the total this year is 9,245, compared with 10,129 in the similar period last year.

McC Ows Taxes, Star Story Says

Washington Paper Sets Amount at $25,000; No Fraud Found

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Washington Evening Star said today Internal Revenue agents, after an 18 months investigation, have concluded that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) owes additional income taxes and interest of about $25,000.

McCarthy, asked if he wished to comment on the newspaper's story, told a reporter: "It's strictly untrue. There is strictly nothing to it."

The Internal Revenue Service declined comment. The newspaper said it had learned the Revenue Service will soon present the evidence it has gathered to McCarthy and give him a chance to explain data that the tax investigators do not understand.

"The tax agents do not contend that Sen. McCarthy acted with fraudulent intent," the story said.

"Instead, they assert the Wisconsin legislator erroneously classified as non-taxable some of the money he received and on which he should have paid taxes."

Years 1946-52
The case was described as covering the tax years 1946 through 1952.

Saying there was no claim of intent to defraud, the newspaper added:

"A taxpayer in these circumstances can clear himself by simply paying back taxes plus 6 per cent interest."

"If the taxpayer pays up, the Revenue Service does not make the case public. Thus Senator McCarthy's federal tax returns again could escape public scrutiny—unless some congressional committee were to subpoena them."

"The tax agents' confidence in their claim against Sen. McCarthy stems partly from the fact that Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews is taking a stern attitude toward Sen. McCarthy's lack of detailed records to support his tax returns."

Clear Stipulation

"The law states that if Internal Revenue finds that a taxpayer has receipts that are not clearly classifiable as non-taxable, Internal Revenue can rule that the receipts are subject to taxation."

"This is the course Internal Revenue has followed in the past." (Continued on Page 25, Col. 5)

According to today's announcement, Dr. Alexander will preach his first sermon at St. James Church Sunday, Sept. 12.

The Rev. Dr. Alexander has been an associate pastor with Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, widely known through America as the preacher on the National Radio Pulpit program and as a lecturer in colleges and universities.

Dr. Alexander is a native of Philadelphia, Pa., where he attended public schools. He is a graduate of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., and of Drew University where he received the Bachelor of Divinity degree. Flanagan and Wicks Head '55 Fire Convention Group

At a meeting Wednesday night of the citizens committee to raise funds for the 1955 convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, E. Frank Flanagan, president of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston was designated as chairman, and State Senator Arthur H. Wicks as co-chairman.

Selection of the two civic leaders was made at the session of the volunteer firemen in the directors' room at the Savings and Loan building, 267 Wall street, where enthusiasts ran high about the big event for next year.

Chairman Flanagan, who is of the opinion that the convention will be one of the largest ever promoted in Kingston, said the three-day event should draw at least 50,000 to the city and boom things for local business places.

Flanagan, a business man as well as a banker, with an interest in the men's and boys' clothing store bearing his name on Wall street, feels certain the influx of visitors, especially on parade day, will be a great thing for the community. "We are known as a friendly city," he said, "and we'll keep up the reputation."

Project Is Active at Key Spots

Oak Ridge, Paducah Workers Observe Injunction Ordered by U. S. Judge on Eve of Threatened Strikes

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Aug. 12 (AP)—Officials reported "business as usual" today at strike-threatened atomic plants here and at Paducah, Ky.

CIO production workers, who had threatened to strike today at the key atomic plants to enforce their demands for pay raises, backed down in the face of a federal court injunction issued last night. The plants produce all of a vital ingredient for atomic and hydrogen bombs in this country.

Spokesmen for both sides said there were no disturbances as the day shift reported for work and that it was "business as usual" at the atomic plants.

The Taft-Hartley injunction was whipped out last night by U. S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor at nearby Knoxville to block the strike of 4,500 workers ordered for 8 a. m. (local time) today. The move came just hours after President Eisenhower said the government could not permit a work stoppage at the plants for reasons of national security.

Promises Return
Emerson Pownall, president of the local, promised last night that the workers would be back on the job today as another chapter was added to the already four-month-old wage dispute.

Security guards at the plants here said that no picket lines had been thrown up during the morning hours and indications were that the injunction would be honored by the workers as Pownall promised.

The injunction provides for an 80-day cooling off period in which the workers continue on the jobs and management is barred from holding a lockout while negotiations continue.

Elwood Hain, regional representative of the union from Atlanta, Ga., accepted service of the injunction last night for both locals.

This was the second time the Taft-Hartley Law has been invoked to stop a strike of the same workers. President Eisenhower ordered the injunction (Continued on Page 25, Col. 4)

B'arsville Prophet Hits Four of 5 Predictions

Tom Shultis, the Bearsville resident who has gained a reputation as an unusually accurate weather prophet, has already chalked up four out of five predictions for this summer to his credit.

At the present time, Shultis said Wednesday night, he is working on his prediction for the coming winter. He hasn't completed it yet, and is not ready to make his forecast public.

Shultis' one prediction that remains to be decided by the course of the weather in the next few weeks concerns frost in late August.

Although most residents and particularly the farmers hope he's wrong, Shultis said early in April that there will be frost in late August and early September. He's still holding to that, saying last night that he believes there will be frost by the end of this month, or the first of next month.

Here's Shultis' score on his other predictions, made public on April 9:

1. Prediction: A cool, late spring with frost in May. Fact: Low temperature readings in the 40's were common the first part of May, with the city hall recording thermometer dipping to 38 degrees on May 5 and 6. Although this is above the freezing mark, there may have been instances of frost in some sections of the county and particularly in the mountain district.

2. Prediction: Summer will be "disagreeable and changeable with high winds. . . . Crops will be damaged by winds. . . . Fact: Worst of several storms reported, an electrical storm accompanied by high winds hit Ulster county on July 14, and wind damaged hay ready for harvest, and some apples in the southern part of the county.

3. Prediction: "Rainfall below normal." Fact: May and June were both below normal in rainfall, as was most of July up until July 28 and 29, when 2.35 inches of rain brought the total for the year up to within three-quarter inch of normal.

4. Prediction: Warmest weather will be in June and July. Fact: August and September cool. Fact: Highest temperatures were recorded in July, and August so far has shown a tendency toward cool weather, with a low of 56 degrees being recorded early today. September still a question mark.

Ulster Park

Ulster Park, Aug. 12—Usual service in the Reformed Church Sunday at 9:45 a. m. with the pastor, the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, preaching.

George E. Lowe was the guest preacher in the Esopus ME Church last Sunday morning. He will also fill the pulpit Sunday, August 15.

A special service was held in the Reformed Church Sunday afternoon, conducted by two Waldensian ministers, one from Italy and the other from New York. The service was in French. It is held each year in Ulster Park where there are many Waldensian families. About 300 years ago a number of people residing in the Waldensian Valley, a narrow strip of land lying between the boundaries of France and Italy, broke away from the Pope and the Church of Rome, becoming identified with Protestantism. The service in Ulster Park is held annually about mid-August in celebration of this separation. The nearest Waldensian Church is in New York but those living in Ulster Park attend and support the Ulster Park Reformed Church and Union Center Community Church.

The Gendreau family and Miss Loretta De Angelis of Kingston were supper guests of the H. H. Crispell family in Middle Hope on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robertson and children of Albany have been spending a few days with Mrs. Robertson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Williams. The Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Killinder entertained their son Charles and family from Indiana. Mrs. Charles Killinder and children are spending a few weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Vandervoort of New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Figge are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

On Saturday, Aug. 14, at 2 p. m., all the young people in Ulster Park and Union Center who ride bicycles are requested to ride them to the Grange Hall where a committee from the Grange will equip them with reflector tape. This move has been planned to help make bicycle riding safer. Children from elsewhere who would like the safety measure are welcome to avail themselves of the tape at the hall Saturday.

Auto Accidents Drop

Albany, Aug. 12 (AP)—Deaths in motor vehicle accidents during the first five months of 1954 dropped five per cent—from 806 to 762—below last year's rate, James R. Macduff, commissioner of motor vehicles, reported today. However, the number of persons injured non-fatally in auto accidents rose from 64,268 last year to 68,279 this year, Macduff said. Property damage in the first five months of 1954 totaled $36,639,817, compared with $34,145,546 in the 1953 span.

Breaches Are Found

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—The air force said yesterday it has found "serious breaches of . . . security regulations" by Col. Robert Hutchinson Orr, 36, who is facing burglary charges in Las Vegas, Nev. It said an investigation is continuing, but gave no details. Orr, who took part in 101 combat missions in the Korean war, was arrested in Las Vegas last month and police officials quoted him as saying he had burglarized fashionable hotels "just for kicks." At preliminary hearing, his case was continued pending psychiatric study. The Arlington, Va., officer holds the Distinguished Service Cross and other decorations.

Agreement Is Approved

Detroit, Aug. 12 (AP)—Union employees of six Detroit dairies have approved an agreement to cut the price of home-delivered milk by three cents a quart—in lieu of a pay raise. Brunson Gilbert, president of Local 155 of the AFL Milk Drivers and Dairy Employees Union, said the workers first sought at $12-a-week pay increase. But they decided to forego it, he said, if the dairies would cut prices the equivalent of $12-a-week per route. The three-cent reduction would benefit all customers who use more than 30 quarts a month.

Sailboats Capsize

Marblehead, Mass., Aug. 12 (AP)—A brief but fierce thunder-squall capsized 70 small sailboats in Marblehead harbor yesterday. The wild, 20-minute storm might have spelled tragedy for about 100 persons but for the swift rescue operations of nearby speed boats whose crews took aboard the floundering yachtsmen. The worst injuries suffered were slight cases of immersion. About 400 small boats were in the area taking part in and watching race week events when the 30-mile wind, whipped up by a thunderstorm, struck and toppled the tiny sailboats like ten-pins.

Church Assembly: 3

Political Tensions

(Not only man's relation to God, but his relation to the state is likely to prove a hot issue at the great religious convocation starting in Evanston, Ill., next Sunday. This third article on the Assembly of the World Council of Churches outlines the dispute, which will be accentuated by the presence of 18 delegates from Communist countries.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP)—Churchmen from the east and the west headed today for a religious arena which is charged with tensions—both religious and political.

The gathering is in the cause of Christianity. But around this central purpose swirls a haze of doubts and discords that could roll in to frustrate the meeting—the Assembly of the World Council of Churches here starting Sunday, for two weeks.

"There are dangers, but there also are hopes," said Dr. G. K. A. Bell, Britain's Bishop of Chichester and chairman of the council's central committee.

"The danger in a great body of churches meeting in a time of so much strain, antagonism and hostility is that some may seek to reflect their own political and national points of view.

Will Come Together

"But there is hope that they will all come together in a mood to submit various experiences and insights, even ideologies, to the mastership and judgment of Christ."

Although the council faces a host of touchy social and religious questions, probably the most explosive is the relationship of Christianity and communism, and the presence of delegates from Communist countries.

At least 18 churchmen from Red-ruled lands—8 from East Germany and 5 each from Hungary and Czechoslovakia—will be among the 1,500 representatives. Others from Poland and Yugoslavia also may attend.

Called Collaborationists

"Communist collaborationists" is the label applied to them by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) who says he will hold hearings simultaneously with the assembly to show their "false pretenses."

He said they are "servants of world communism who masquerade as men of God."

Others, including two mid-western American Legion posts, also have denounced admission of the delegates. Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, called them "puppets of atheistic communism," and said: "Evanston must declare communism anti-religious, anti-Christ and utterly antagonistic to everything for which the church should stand, or Evanston will divide the American Protestant community."

Are Not Opposed

However, none of the 161 orthodox, old Catholic, Anglican and Protestant denominations in 48 countries belonging to the council have opposed representation of the Iron Country churches.

Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, the council's general secretary, said "some of us may disagree" with positions taken by Iron Curtain churchmen, but council membership is based solely on a "spiritual criterion"—recognition of Christ as Divine Lord and Savior.

He added it is "terribly important for this movement to keep in touch with the churches" behind the Iron Curtain, and do "everything we can to strengthen the links with Christians in those countries."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who as a church leader clashed with Iron Curtain delegates at the council's founding assembly six years ago at Amsterdam before he entered the government, backed their admission now.

Detailed Inquiries

The State Department made detailed inquiries before approving the visas. It said the importance of the meeting to world-wide Christianity was so great the government should not bar anyone legally admissible.

This implied none were found to be Communists or Fascists, who are barred under the McCarran Act.

Dr. O. Frederick Nolde, chairman of the council's International Relations Commission, called the decision a "clear demonstration of our belief in religious freedom," which would hearten people under totalitarian rule.

Most vociferous attack on admitting the Iron Curtain churchmen has come from the Rev. Carl McIntire, of Collingswood, N. J., head of a small faction of fundamentalists called the International Council of Christian Churches.

Describing the delegates as "agents of the Kremlin," he has urged a wave of rallies, resolutions, speeches, advertisements, letters and demonstrations to protest their coming.

He led a 12-man delegation to the White House to object, and wrote President Eisenhower that "you, as our President, and the Republican Party, the party in power, will be held responsible" for admitting the delegates.

One of the McIntire group's main activities has been assailing the National and World Council of Churches. He says participation of the Iron Curtain delegates indicates the World Council's "promotion of Marxism."

Have Assailed Council

Official Soviet publications also have assailed the World Council as a "weapon of American imperialism in their fighting against the forces of democracy and progress."

A new Soviet press drive against religion came in the wake of a meeting near Leipzig in East Germany, where a half million people met in the biggest Christian demonstration in modern European history, discussing the World Assembly's theme: "Christ—the Hope of the World."

Six delegates and two consultants will represent East Germany at the assembly here.

The World Presbyterian Alliance, meeting in Princeton, N. J., last week, said in a resolution:

"We hope the people of the United States will understand that the very nature of a worldwide Christian organization demands that representatives of churches from nations politically divided be able to confer across all barriers."

Among other ticklish issues confronting the assembly are racial segregation, condoned by churches in South Africa, among other places, and Christian evangelism, reportedly lagging and meeting mounting resentment in many regions.

Insurance Pay Declines

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—New York State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi says the number of workers receiving unemployment insurance has declined 22 per cent during the past three weeks. The number of persons receiving insurance, Corsi reported yesterday, has dropped 75,000 to a total of 259,000. He said the pickup in employment is due largely to rehiring in the needle trades in New York city and in food processing and canning industries upstate. Although unemployment in the state still is higher than the 1953 low, Corsi said, it is well below the 1949 figure.

FARMING CAN BE SAFE

This year's formal observance of Farm Safety Week is over—it was held July 25-31. Now it remains to be seen if the work done during the week will bear fruit, in the form of a real reduction in the farm accident rate.

President Eisenhower picked the week's slogan—"Farm to Live and Live to Farm." He chose well. For that is a memorable phrase and it clearly expresses the general problem.

Farming is highly mechanized today—and there will be more and more mechanization in the future. Surveys indicate that machines cause a considerable proportion of total farm accidents. It would be more accurate to say that careless or improper use of these machines is the real cause. As an example, power take-off drives on tractors were once a major hazard. The farm equipment industry developed simple and convenient shields for the drive shafts, which are standard on most recent tractors, and can be attached to most older models. These shields have solved that particular safety problem. But the manufacturers can't do anything about farmers who fail to use the shields—or about home-made additions, and innovations which often create grave hazards.

Plain common sense is a key factor in the safety movement. A farm authority has cited a newspaper story telling of an 11-year-old boy driving a tractor from five in the morning until nine that night. Such practices, obviously, are invitations to injury and death.

It's up to the farmer. If he wills it, he can "Farm to Live and Live to Farm."

Too many people define cooperation as letting the other fellow carry the heaviest part of the load.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Last year there were more than 34,000 students from foreign lands enrolled in American colleges and universities. This is an encouraging sign that, despite some of our critics abroad, the world is coming to realize that American educational institutions are the equal of any in the world.

Perhaps more important is the fact that this large enrollment of foreign students means that the young people who come here to study will get a chance to know us first hand, to come in daily contact with the way we do things and the way we live our lives. The presence of these young people at our colleges give our own students a chance to know people from other countries, to exchange ideas and opinions on the problems which confront the world.

Students who come here to study, and our students who go abroad for education, can do a great deal to promote international good will. In a world where understanding among peoples grows more important every day they can make a significant contribution.

The telephone is certainly one of our sturdy devices. Few housewives have ever been known to wear one out!

NEW OUTLOOK

At the seventh annual conference on aging at the University of Michigan, work groups placed emphasis on the prevention of problems commonly associated with older folks and on a reorganization of attitudes.

One panelist, Paul T. Salchow, medical director of Detroit's Herman Keifer Hospital, pointed to the importance of educating children early in life, in homes and churches, that grandparents have a useful place in family relationships.

Too often older people are relegated to rocking chairs; children hear them referred to as "problems," and instead of allowing the older person to contribute their wealth of wisdom to family circles, there is the tendency to cut their golden thread of usefulness and segregate them.

We are told: "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the

SHORTS AND BRIEFS

Up here in the Berkshires, in Massachusetts, where many who live in the big cities come to be amateur farmers and musicians and to enjoy the peace and quiet of a sylvan sanctuary, two arguments have filled the summer with rage and outrage.

One is about a prison camp which the reformers in Boston seek to impose upon the communities in these hills that are unpolluted and unguarded because the kindly people here have never needed to spend their money on more than local constables who devote a very small part of their time to law and order, of which, generally speaking, we have sufficient.

The original plan was to put the prison camp on October Mountain in the vicinity of a number of summer camps for boys and girls. The Massachusetts prison authorities say that they will screen the prisoners, so that if they escape, they will not molest the children in the camps, which makes me wonder if the Boston bureaucrats do not hope that some will escape to save expenses. Nobody wants the prison camp in his backyard, but would not mind being humane at someone else's expense, which is the way of the do-gooder everywhere.

This prison camp excitement is, however, not as stimulating as the anger of the local townspeople in Lenox, Lee, Great Barrington and Stockbridge over shorts and briefs. (I am not that what I call briefs, the girls refer to as short-shorts.) I have noticed that an increasing number of men and women come to the Tanglewood concerts in various stages of undress. None has yet appeared in the nude, but some are not far from it, particularly young women with ugly calves. Apparently, being of such an age, I notice the ugly calves. The ladies say that something worn to cover their upper part-way makes them look ugly all the way, which is a little beyond my esthetics.

In the years when I lived in the Far East, most men during the summer months wore short pants and long stockings and looked rather handsome in the outfit which originated among the British troops in India. The costume was cool and suitable to the climate. No one would think of wearing anything that was so short as to be brief. The sublimated fig-leaf had not yet become a popular wearing apparel for modern young ladies and gentlemen. There was an unbreakable rule that shorts had to be spic-and-span, and well-laundered.

The night I was listening to "The Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz, which demands its measure of concentration, two females wandered about dressed in something called a pedal-dusher, made of nondescript cotton cloth which clung to their bodies as though pasted on. The color of the cloth was uncertain and gave some evidence of the use of too powerful a detergent in the washing machine. On the uppers, they wore something that covered less than more and seemed not to serve any very useful purpose. To top it all, they wore their hair so that it looked like a horse's tail which is what my young daughter told me it was intended to be. They were stockinged and sockless but did wear sneakers that caused them to scuff as they walked. It was an exhibition in tastelessness if not distasteful.

I cannot be arbitrary about what is taste in clothes. I have lived in countries where men wear skirts and women trousers, and I have seen women who strapped themselves to look like boys and men who bejeweled themselves fashionably. Good taste has something to do with local custom and it is not local custom in New England to wear briefs. Ugliness is always unforgivable and the short that becomes a brief is ugly. When thousands are gathered in one place and so many are badly dressed and wear clothes that only accentuate the imperfections of the human figure, it makes one wonder what has happened to proper manners and good taste. Perhaps it bespeaks the nineteenth century reactionary to consider manners; yet they did make life more orderly. And if, as some philosophers believe, manners are the external expression of morals, then these new, popular summer fashions must have been designed by minds that have never heard the line: "Beauty is truth, truth beauty."

That Body of Yours

EARLY RISING AFTER OPERATION

Until recently when a patient had undergone a major surgical operation, he remained quietly in bed for a certain period of time to allow the wound to heal. It was felt that if the patient were allowed up and about too soon the wound would break open and a further operation to close it would be necessary. This skepticism of the advisability of early rising was especially prevalent about operations on the brain or on the spinal column such as the removal of protruded intervertebral discs and tumors.

However, it was gradually found that patients who were allowed up early after general operations had their wounds heal in about half the time. In fact, it was so successful that it has been universally adopted in general surgery but this was not so in neurosurgery (operations on brain and spinal column) and it took a war to stir the neurosurgeon from his old practice of confining his patients to long periods in bed after an operation.

We read in an editorial in the magazine Postgraduate Medicine that "It was the necessity of handling patients during the blitz of London that awakened us to the fact that patients sustaining head injuries had a much less stormy convalescence if they were up and about as soon as they were physically able. Observations made on patients with war injuries have revolutionized our thinking."

The City of London used its hospitals as clearing stations. Patients brought to the hospital at night were sent to outlying hospitals the following day. The number of patients who were brought in because of fractured skulls, penetrating wounds of the head and concussion was so great that there was insufficient ambulances to transport them outside the city limits. Any patient who could stand and walk was called on to get himself to the ambulance or motor vehicle under his own power. Many of these had sustained a head injury, either penetrating or closed.

As time went on, the "walking wounded" helped assist the more seriously injured patients and carried stretchers. After the outlying patients had been reached, they again assisted in moving the stretcher patients into the wards and, much to the surprise of everyone, felt so well that they refused to go to bed, remained up helping with trays and bedpans, and felt no after effects. In fact, they did much better than the patients with head injuries who had been treated in the old manner by being kept flat in bed for three weeks.

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The shooting war may be ended in Indo-China but the Communist propaganda offensive there is being rapidly stepped up.

Even before the ink was dry on the Geneva agreement the Reds trotted out a carefully planned propaganda program based on the assumption of a truce situation.

It's a tip-off what France and the U. S. will be up against in the upcoming battle for what free minds are left in Indo-China.

The initial Red propaganda pitch is being directed at the remnants of the Viet Nam Army which escaped capture. Large sums of money are being offered to them to drop arms and come over to the Communist-held sections. They are being told that they will get free plots of farmland and be permitted to move into houses formerly occupied by Frenchmen. The story is also being spread that the French government has made plans to ship them all to Africa, for service in the Foreign Legion.

Another major effort by the Communist Viet Minh is directed at close to 1,000,000 natives expected to try to flee from Red territory to free Viet Nam in the south. If the combination of their threats, bribes and appeals to this group persuades an important percentage to remain in Red territory it will be a major Communist propaganda victory.

A cold look at the propaganda weapons left to the U. S. for Indo-China reveals them to be pitifully inadequate. Nevertheless, the U. S. Information Agency has already swung into action.

It's a maxim of the propa-gandists that no program they can cook up can be any more effective than the basic policies or products which they have to sell. That's the big rub for the USIA's new job in Indo-China. One set of American policies there has already been a dismal failure.

They've got to start, now, from somewhere back of scratch to try to sell a set of new policies which have not yet been formulated.

There are two important dates which the propagandists will be shooting at. One is July, 1955, when the legislative elections will be held in Laos and Cambodia. The other is a year later when the all-Viet Nam elections are held, under terms of the truce, even though there is some doubt as to whether the Reds will ever permit them to come off.

The U. S. has already made two important moves in this psychological-propaganda fight. One was the announcement that the State Department would send either ambassadors or ministers to both Laos and Cambodia.

This move gives the U. S. a stronger foothold in these important embryonic free countries. It proves that America considers them important and at the same time beefs up U. S. representation there.

The second important action was the decision announced by Harold Stassen, head of Foreign Operations Administration, that the U. S. would leave all of its equipment of a "humanitarian and civilian nature" in Communist-held Viet Nam. This includes such things as medical and irrigation equipment sent there to help bolster the forces of democracy in Indo-China before the cause was lost in the north.

Even before the truce was signed, USIA officials began strengthening its forces in Laos and Cambodia. They have decided that it will take about 30 persons in all of free Indo-China to carry on the work of selling freedom in that area.

In the relatively brief period while they worked closely with Viet Nam officials USIA experts got a good insight into the thinking of the natives. And they feel that they know how to make maximum use of the limited resources at their disposal.

The basic message to these people has to be simple and sincere. They don't understand complicated, conflicting ideologies. They only understand results and positive evidence.

Thus the message the U. S. will be attempting to get across to them is that their real chance for freedom and prosperity lies with the forces of democracy, while affiliation with the Communist cause means domination by Russia and slavery.

The technique for getting these ideas across is through extensive use of pamphlets, posters and cartoon-type books.

Michigan has put hawks and owls on the protected list because they are valuable to farmers in killing rodents.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 10 — Nellie Revell, 81, blind in one eye and dim in the other and paralyzed a good deal of the time since the First World War, is another of those journalistic G.A.R.'s of the gallus days in Denver of whom I have maintained sporadic reminiscence in loose collusion with Charlie Porter, now of Chicago, and Hamish McLaurin, now of Los Angeles, both colleagues in that day of Damon Runyon.

It is a remarkable fact unexplained to me, that Denver journalism produced more quaintness and ability per capita than that of any other city of which I have knowledge. Eugene Field was there before Runyon and I have heard that Mark Twain put in a hitch about the time of his Virginia City phase.

Omaha, Des Moines and St. Louis produced competent but colorless journeymen who were, on the whole, just husbands with rarely any ambition beyond the post of secretary to the mayor or the chamber of commerce.

Nellie Revell, at her age and in her best condition, is still "trying hard to get a job," insisting that "I know I can do something" wherein she reveals the spirit of that harum scarum cult. She did not remember me but I had met her in Denver in 1915 when she was a supervising press-agent for a big vaudeville chain and occasionally with the circus.

I next met her at her bedside in St. Vincent's Hospital in 1919 when she was helpless with some spinal trouble. A small, pretty woman was let in as we talked and I was presented to Fritz Scheff, who, on leaving, showed a check under Nellie's pillow.

When Fritz had gone, Nellie asked me to put it in a dresser drawer where there were, I should say, at least half a dozen other checks from actors.

Calling the roll of the Denver Post when the incorrigible Tammen and Bonfils, the most gorgeous rogues unhung, were stridently defending civic virtue against formless foes, Nellie mentioned Margaret and Alice Rohe and said, "Margaret married a man named Howard who has something to do with Scripps-Howard."

Yes, that must be Margaret Mason, the fashion writer of the old United Press Red Letter, a weekly mail feature service

'Lynch Law' Seems to Have Found Way Into United States Senate

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 12—"Lynch Law" and rule by the mob have been justly condemned in America as hardly a substitute for the right of every man to a full hearing of any charges made against him. But 12 United States senators recently were ready to "lynch" a fellow senator, figuratively speaking, by voting to declare him guilty without giving him his day in court. Seventy-five other senators decided to grant a hearing before passing judgment.

The record of this debate in the Senate shows how easily passion and emotion can result in "Lynch Law." It is significant because the idea of voting on the charges against Senator McCarthy without a hearing came almost entirely from senators who have called themselves "Liberals."

One of the principal charges made by the so-called "Liberals" against the Wisconsin senator is that he publicly asked federal employees to give him information and urged them "to violate their oaths." This has been proved now to be a vague charge, because it isn't clear just what law could be violated if the purpose in giving that data to members of Congress is to expose crime. Perhaps the best evidence available on the subject comes from those senators who have actually dealt with precisely the same situation—the habit among executive departments of ordering certain information withheld from Congress by calling it "secret."

Here is what Hugo Black, once chairman of a Senate Investigating Committee, wrote in Harper's Magazine in 1936:

"In the munitions investigation something new was tried. A munition manufacturer said its correspondence in many cases referred to government munitions business and that this was confidential to the government. It produced its papers under compulsion, but all over every document was 'confidential by order of the War Department.' Needed to say, the committee paid no attention to this stamp."

Mr. Black is today an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Should he, as a senator, have been "censured" in 1936 for upholding the practice of investigating committees?

Also, the newspapers have been reporting on the trials and convictions of several collectors of Internal Revenue throughout the country, and the other day a former commissioner of Internal Revenue, Joseph Nunan, was sentenced to jail for wrongdoing while in office.

Senator John Williams of Delaware, Republican, has been a one-man investigating unit in exposing the crimes committed in the Bureau of Internal Revenue under Democratic administrations. Repeatedly he met roadblocks. He was refused information but he got it nevertheless because various employees of the Internal Revenue Bureau helped him. If what the so-called "liberal" senators are advocating today becomes the rule and executive employees cannot give anything to members of Congress, reason as well as corruption can be covered up.

Senator Williams told the story of the cover-up in a copyrighted interview in U. S. News & World report on December 7, 1951 when he said: "I made my speech on the floor of the Senate that day, numbered the files, and put the whole case of Mr. Finnegan in the Congressional Record. And I made the statement then that all the evidence that I was putting in the 'record' on that date was in the files of the Treasury and the Department of Justice here in Washington, that it had been in their files during the time the first grand jury was in session, and that it was not presented to the first grand jury nor to the second grand jury thus far. I said that both the Department of Justice and the Treasury Departments were responsible for withholding it."

The interview then continued: "Q. When you made your speech, didn't you have in your hand the report of the Revenue Bureau on intelligence unit?" "A. Yes, I had a reproduction of the files."

"Q. Isn't it a violation of some law for that information to get into the hands of a senator?" "A. I don't know if it is or not. I'm a lawyer. I had it and used it. I have always been told it is a crime to conceal a crime. When I got this information that there was a crime being committed, I had thought that I would be part of the crime if I didn't expose it, and so I exposed it. Had I not done so, it would still be covered up."

The data in question led later to the indictment of Collector Logan of St. Louis for misconduct in office. He was convicted and is now serving a two-year prison term. Senator Williams continued:

"I tried to call it to the attention of the commissioner of Internal Revenue. But I couldn't get his interest aroused. So I called it to the attention of the Senate."

Should Senator Williams be "censured" now? And what of the work done by Representative Cecil King, Democrat, and his associates on the House committee who investigated and brought to book persons in the Internal Revenue Service so high up that no employee under them would have dared to confront them with charges? It is widely known that honest employees inside the government gave information and secretly helped these members of Congress. Should they be "censured" and accused of law violations? Yet that's the rule which the so-called "liberal" senators now would enforce against Senator McCarthy merely because he repeated in a public address what is well known—that government employees can and must help to uncover treason and corruption and other forms of wrongdoing even if they risk the disfavor of their superiors. (Reproduction Rights Reserved) they became as one. He got it on a loan from a telegraph operator.

Roy got $37.50 a week as general manager and, I believe, president of the U.P. at that time, and one day he invited Peg, whom Nellie recalls as Maggie in the Denver days, to lunch at Mouquin's on Sixth avenue, an old world restaurant with marble top tables in one of the big rooms.

Margaret was working in a musical comedy and she had to get back for a matinee but Mr. Howard, a leering city fellow, plied her with a devil's broth called champagne wine and she was, as the word went then, a little tipsy in the seaside number where the girls upended little buckets and stood upon them, gaily twirling frilly parasols.

Need it be spelled out that Margaret Rohe lost her balance and fell off her tub that afternoon and that her mortification melted into matrimony soon after?

Alice Rohe became the U.P.'s correspondent in Rome and served well and faithfully in that barbaric outpost for a long time. They came out of Kansas and are frankly not a trace nostalgic for the scenes of their childhood.

Margaret was in London with Roy when he got his historic war-to-a-knockout interview with Lloyd George. This was a propaganda plant arranged for ulterior motives by Lord Northcliffe but a "first" in journalism nevertheless, for no prime minister or president had ever chosen an individual correspondent of a single agency before to proclaim (Continued on Page 16, Col. 1)

WEEKLY
FOOD REVIEW

(By The Associated Press)

Chuck roast at prices ranging from four to 10 cents a pound below last week will be the favorite feature in the nation's food stores this weekend.

And if you're looking for a change in pace, check your local market's price on smoked ham. Numerous stores plan to advertise that item at lower prices.

Meat men point to several other good buys for Sunday dinner—leg of lamb will be down a couple of cents a pound in many cities, there'll be lots of specials on fryers and roasting chickens, and legs and rumps of veal will be on the bargain counter again.

Prime ribs will be spotlighted by some stores at reductions of two to four cents a pound, but in most areas price tags will remain the same as last week. Reflecting rising wholesale prices, pork chops will be a bit higher in many outlets.

Beef Up Slightly

Beef went up slightly at wholesale this week, but there seems to be no likelihood of a sharp rise ahead. Supplies will be large for the rest of the year, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It's opening a campaign to get people to eat more beef, and from Sept. 30 to Oct. 9 will be joined by the vegetable trade in a campaign featuring beef and potatoes, onions and many other hardy vegetables that are in excellent supply.

Eggs will be cheaper in most sections of the country. One big chain is cutting prices on large Grade A whites by two to four cents a dozen. This chain also describes pullet eggs as a fine buy at this time.

Vegetable Buys

Once again you'll find your best buys in vegetables among the wide variety grown in areas near your city. Produce men consider cabbage, cucumbers, beans, beets, corn and small peppers especially worthwhile. Also good buys, they say, are potatoes, onions, eggplant, tomatoes, romaine and western lettuce, cauliflower and celery. Bananas will be featured by many markets this weekend. Cantaloupes and honeydew melons continue to sell at reasonable prices and Persian and Casaba melons are a bit lower than they have been.

Melons Are Good

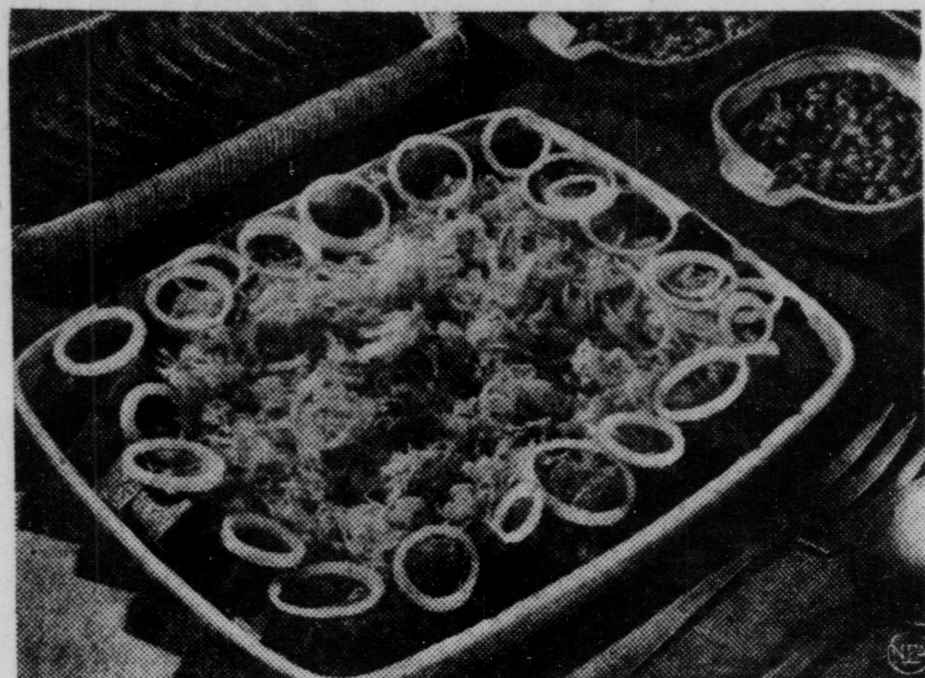

"It's a good time to buy melons," commented one fruit specialist. "Growers aren't getting too much above the freight rate."

There are still an awful lot of limes around at cheap prices. Peaches are plentiful, but fruit men caution that the quality varies widely. Among citrus fruits, oranges are selling at about the same price, while lemons are down a bit. The condition of Florida grapefruit is said to be not too good.

Most small fruits—apricots, plums, nectarines and the like—came down in price at wholesale this week, but specialists say they're not particularly cheap.

NEA Food and Markets Editor

In the Midwest, where the latching string is always out, people are quick to invite folks to stay to supper. That means most people have a few "quickie" pantry shelf recipes.

We asked Mrs. Ruth Bohan of Elmhurst, Ill., mother of two, and very hospitable, for some ideas on "quick" hospitality. She gave us these two sauerkraut recipes, saying not only her husband but also her friends like them very much.

Kraut Jewel Salad

(Makes 6 servings)

One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, ½ cup chopped celery, ½ cup chopped green pepper, ½ cup sour cream, dash garlic salt, paprika, 1 13-ounce can tomato aspic, cubed, 1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced.

Drain kraut and reserve 2 tablespoons kraut juice. Combine sauerkraut, celery and green pepper. Combine sour cream, 2 tablespoons sauerkraut juice and garlic salt. Add to kraut mixture and mix well; dust with paprika. Chill. Turn chilled kraut slaw into a serving dish and surround with cubes of tomato aspic. Garnish with onion rings and serve.

Fruited Kraut and Cucumber Salad

(Makes 4-6 servings)

One 3-ounce package lemon-flavored gelatin, ¾ cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1 No. 2 can sauerkraut, drained, 1 cup drained canned pineapple tidbits, ½ cup chopped walnuts, ¾ cup diced cucumber, crisp salad greens.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add cold water and mix well. Chill until gelatin begins to thicken. Cut kraut into short lengths. Add kraut, pineapple, walnuts and cucumber to thickened gelatin and pour into an 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm. Unmold, cut into squares and serve on crisp salad greens.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Boiled tongue, parsley potatoes, sauerkraut cooked with apple, seeded bread, butter or margarine, sliced "beefsteak" tomatoes, blueberry pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Use the Broth

When you have broth left in the pan after baking meat loaf, use it in a sauce for the loaf or in a gravy for another meal.

Jail Terms Are Given to Pair

Jail terms totaling 60 days each were ordered Wednesday afternoon for a 22-year-old Toledo, Ohio, woman and a Maplecrest man, 28, who allegedly gave a state trooper and a deputy sheriff a difficult time after they were arrested.

Margery Ruth Dunbar, 22, of Toledo, and Ellsworth Charles Roe, Jr., 28, of Maplecrest, were arrested early Wednesday morning along with Mrs. Dunbar's father, Hillis Alfred Malory, 43, of R. D. 1, Kingston, on public intoxication charges.

Trooper J. Ripa said he made the arrest following reports of a disturbance on a public highway. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold E. Macholdt, the trio had formal pleas of innocent entered for them.

Additional Charges

Additional charges of disorderly conduct were placed against Mrs. Dunbar and Roe by Trooper Ripa, who alleged they created a disturbance in court and also later when brought to the sheriff's office to be held for hearing. In addition to the trouble given him, Trooper Ripa said that Mrs. Dunbar also bit and kicked Deputy Sheriff Albert Eisele while being booked at the court house.

At Wednesday afternoon's hearing before Justice Macholdt, Roe pleaded guilty both to the public intoxication and the disorderly conduct charges. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail on each charge, the sentences to run consecutively.

Pleads Innocent

Mrs. Dunbar—who listed her marital status as "separated"—when booked at the court house pleaded innocent to both charges, and was found guilty after a trial. She was sentenced also to 30 days on each charge, sentences to run consecutively.

Mallory, who according to Trooper Ripa's report was not involved in the alleged disturbances in court or at the sheriff's office, was charged with public intoxication only. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 10 days in jail, execution of the sentence being suspended during good behavior.

Rock Is Blasted

Niagara Falls, Aug. 12 (AP)—Several hundred spectators crowded the Prospect Point area today as workmen blasted more than 2,000 tons of rock from an overhanging section at the brink of Niagara Falls. A dull thud harked the scenic gorge as the huge section of the point broke away, tumbled into the Niagara river and pyramided atop the mass of rock piled there by the thunderous rockfall of July 28.

About 75 per cent of the rock to be cleared from the American falls was blasted away by the first charges, engineers said. Additional charges were expected to finish the clean-up job later today.

George Washington's only trip abroad was a journey to Barbados in 1751.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—The stock market slipped a little lower on balance today in the reaction from the higher performance yesterday.

Aircrafts were the first to come under selling guns, and they displayed losses running to around a point. Most minus signs in the list were small. Gains went to about a point at the best.

As prices backed down in an irregular manner, the pace of trading slowed considerably at a rate around two and a half million shares for the day. That compares with 3,440,000 shares traded yesterday in a rising market.

Lower on balance with the aircrafts were the steels, motors, airlines, and the railroads. The oils had some good plus signs but weren't outstanding. Otherwise the market was mixed.

Among lower stocks were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Zenith Radio, American Telephone, and Southern Railway.

America's first dollar bears the date of 1776, but few colonists ever saw one. The coin probably was struck in England and little more is known about it.

John Fast Inducted Into Honor Society

Saugerties, Aug. 11 — John Fast, member of Boy Scout Troop 32 sponsored by Atonement Lutheran Church, passed his ordeal ritual and was inducted into the Order of the Arrow in an impressive ceremony held Friday evening at Camp Tri-Mount in East Jewett. The 12-year-old Boy Scout who attends the 7th grade in the Main Street School in Saugerties is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fast of Second street. He also serves as the regular acolyte in Atonement Church.

First Class Scout Fast has been attending Camp Tri-Mount since opening day and as is the usual procedure was elected into the honor society by the two-year campers of his own troop. A scout attaining this designation must meet the strictest of requirements. Only one other boy in the Saugerties District, Charles Brackett, also of Troop 32, has been so honored. The scoutmaster for Troop 32 is Kenneth Maclary and assistant scoutmaster is Orville Whitaker.

Drivers Continue
Work Stoppage

Middletown, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—Union milk drivers refused to take their trucks out today in a work stoppage that one union official said threatened to result in a state-wide tieup of milk deliveries.

Philip Massiello, business agent of Local 445, AFL-Brotherhood of Teamsters, said he called the strike after a membership meeting last night sanctioned the move.

Massiello declined to give the reason for the stoppage, but other sources reported it resulted from the firing of three union shop stewards because of the one-day stoppage by the drivers last Sunday.

Thomas L. Hickey, international vice president of the union, said that if the strike develops to the degree Massiello indicated it "would tie up all the milk industry in New York state, as well as New York city." In that case, he said, it would affect 800 long distance milk haulers and 25,000 retail drivers.

Are at Garage

Middletown, Aug. 12 (AP)—Fifty-eight drivers remained at the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association garage today in a renewal of a work stoppage that halted some milk deliveries Sunday.

A spokesman for the League said telegrams had been sent to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York city, and Dave Beck, president of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, charging the stoppage is a violation of an agreement it has with Local 445, of the Teamsters Union.

Reports here said that milk trucks were being stopped on the highways and that half a dozen milk hauling companies were affected.

A milk industry spokesman, however, said there was no immediate shortage of milk because of the tieup, which he said affected the Hudson Valley area.

Driver Goes Through

An attempt was made to stop one milk truck from Rhinebeck when it reached Poughkeepsie, but the driver went on through to New York city.

The walkout last weekend started Saturday night at Southfields, in Orange county, and at one time more than 30 trucks were bottled up along the highway. Later several of the trucks were escorted from the strike area by state police, the Orange county sheriff and his deputies.

At that time a spokesman for the union said the strike was unauthorized, and that the trouble may have stemmed from a recent dispute between the international and officers of Local 445. Officers of the local had been removed by the international, but later were reinstated under a court order pending settlement of the union dispute.

Visited by Agent

Today's stoppage at the Dairyman's League plant began at 3:30 a. m., EDT, after a visit to the plant by Philip Massiello, business agent of Local 445. It was reported he ordered the walkout because of the firing of three shop stewards by hauling companies.

Thomas L. Hickey, international vice president of the union, met with 150 drivers at the R. L. & F. McBride Co., at Goshen, today and urged them to go back. He said the strike was unauthorized.

When one of the drivers asked Hickey if the men would get in trouble if they went back to work Hickey said "there'll be a lot of trouble before this thing is over—people will get hurt financially and otherwise."

Growth of Palsy
Program in U. S.
Saluted by Bibby

On the occasion of the fifth anniversary today of the organization of United Cerebral Palsy, Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of Ulster county branch, said "We salute our national organization, which has grown from seven affiliates in five years to 290 units in 44 states."

Dr. Bibby, a child specialist himself, spoke at the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Center, 400 Broadway, to parents of afflicted youngsters and the staff of therapists employed there. "Within the short span of five years," Dr. Bibby said, "cerebral palsy, one of the most common crippling diseases, has moved out of obscurity to the forefront of public concern."

"In order to form a more perfect union, our local CP group decided four years ago to join the ranks of the many other units throughout the country to help those afflicted."

Program Broadened

"This move provided us with an opportunity to participate in the medical research and training program conducted by our national organization."

"The beneficiaries of this program are all of the cerebral palsied, including those, in Ulster county."

"During the five years of UCP's existence, we have not been able to prevent cases of cerebral palsy. However, we have been able, thanks to the dollars so generously contributed in our city and county, to respond to some, if not yet all of the needs of our children with CP."

"When we started our center here, only 25 youngsters were enrolled. Today, our case load of children receiving physical therapy numbers 100."

"We also extend our services, when they are needed, to polio victims, the blind, muscular dystrophy sufferers and those with hearing and speech defects."

Conditions 'Good'

The conditions of the three persons hospitalized after an accident on Route 9W at Esopus Tuesday evening were reported as "good" at the Kingston Hospital today. The injured are: William H. Fischang, of Glencliff; Stanley Gardeski and Frank Gardeski, both of East Kingston.

CP Fifth Anniversary Observed

These two of 100 children receiving treatment at the Ulster county center, 400 Broadway, take part in ceremony there in observance of the fifth anniversary of United Cerebral Palsy organization. Bibby, president of UCP of Ulster County, and pretty Susan McCord, whose legs are also afflicted, stands with Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly, who represented the city at the ceremonies. (Freeman Photo)

Rites to Be Held

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—Non-sectarian last rites will be held today (1 p. m., EDT) for former Rep. Vito Marcantonio, denied a church funeral by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese. After Marcantonio died of a heart attack on Monday, an archdiocesan chancery office spokesman refused permission to hold his funeral in the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, where Marcantonio was baptized and confirmed. The spokesman said the controversial congressman "had not practiced his religion in a great many years and was not reconciled with the church at his death." Women in Marcantonio's East Harlem district circulated petitions against the ban, but an archdiocesan spokesman said yesterday: "Definitely and absolutely there will be no change in the ruling."

Will Give Up Office

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 12 (AP)—Fulgencio Batista, who vaulted back to power in a 1952 army revolt, says he will give up Cuba's presidency Saturday in order to run for the office in the November elections. He is prevented by the constitution from seeking election while president. An official announcement yesterday said Batista would name his successor at a cabinet meeting Saturday. Batista was elected president of the Council of Ministers in April, 1952, a month after he threw out the government of Carlos Prío Socarras.

Report on Youths

The condition of Kenneth Pangburn, 16, of 10 Clifton Terrace, was reported as "fair," and that of Robert Joseph Mannello, 17, of 149 Spring street as "good" at the Benedictine Hospital today. They were injured August 7 in an automobile accident at Woodstock, according to sheriff's office and state police reports of that date.

More Than Million To Get Tax Cut Under New Rules

(This is the eighth in a series of articles explaining how the new tax revision act affects individuals.)

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

Washington, Aug. 11 (AP)—More than a million taxpayers will get a tax cut under new rules for taxing income from annuities or life insurance included in the giant tax revision act just passed by Congress.

The new rules apply to income received after last Dec. 31.

In annuities, you generally pay so much a year to an insurance company. Then at a fixed age or year, you get back so much a year for the rest of your life, or for a fixed number of years.

Question of How Much

The big question, taxwise, is how much of the money paid to you is simply a return of the money you paid in—and how much is interest or profit and therefore taxable.

Under the old law, you first figured the total amount you paid in—the total cost of the policy to you. Then you were taxed each year on 3 per cent of that cost. The remaining annuity income was tax-free.

For example, say a policy cost you $10,900 and at age 65 you were to get back $1,200 each year for the rest of your life.

Under the old law, 3 per cent of $10,900, or $327, would be considered taxable income each year. The other $873 a year would not be counted as income for tax purposes.

This would continue until the $873 of tax-free income a year added up to the cost of the policy, or $10,900. From then on—in this example from the 14th year on—you would be taxed on the full $1,200 a year.

This sudden increase in taxes was considered a hardship in many cases.

Under New Law

Under the new law you first figure your total cost just as before. Then you figure your remaining years of life expectancy, or the fixed number of years, over which you are to receive repayments. Then you divide your cost by this number of years. That is the amount of income you can receive tax-free, and the rest is taxable.

In the example above, say you had a life expectancy of 10 years or a fixed 10 years in which the policy says you are to receive $1,200 a year. Your total cost of $10,900, divided by 10, amounts to $1,090—and that amount of annual income is considered tax free. You would pay taxes on the remaining $110 each year.

These amounts would remain the same throughout—even after you had recovered the full cost of your policy, and even if you actually lived longer than your life expectancy.

Thus, under the old law, you would pay taxes on $327 a year for a while and then you would pay taxes on $1,200 a year. Under the new law you would pay taxes on only $110 a year throughout.

Where Employer Contributes

The new rules are different in cases where an employer contributes much of the cost of an annuity or pension policy to an employee. If the employee receives back all of his cost within the first three years of payments to him, he doesn't pay any tax during those first three years. Then after three years, he pays income taxes on the full amount he receives.

Experts estimate this would apply in 95 per cent of the cases where employers contribute to pension or annuity contracts. So the new life expectancy rules will chiefly benefit those who buy commercial annuity policies on their own.

There's one helpful provision in the new act. You don't have to go through complex arithmetic to figure how much of your annuity is taxable. The insurance company, when it starts payments to you, will compute your life expectancy and tell you how much of your annuity income will be taxable.

Estate Taxes Cut

Another provision gives a big cut in estate taxes. Under the old law, if you paid premiums on a life insurance policy, proceeds of the policy were considered part of your estate when you died. Your survivors paid an estate tax on them. But from now on if you make the policy irrevocably payable to your beneficiary, it is not included as part of your taxable estate. This provision alone is expected to reduce taxes about 25 million dollars for about 10,000 taxpayers each year.

But another change will increase taxes for some. Under the old law, the beneficiary of a life insurance policy could leave the principal with the insurance company and received tax-free interest in annual installments. Under the new law, this interest will be taxable for anyone but a widow. And a widow will pay taxes on any such interest which exceeds $1,000 a year.

New Tax Break

You get a new tax break if you decide to take proceeds from a life insurance policy in a lump-sum payment before you die, or if you get proceeds from annuity or endowment policies in a lump sum rather than in annual installments.

Under the new law, the tax on these lump-sum payments will be the same as if you spread the payments over three years. Under the old tax law, the tax was figured for the single year the payments were received. In effect, you now may get in a lower tax bracket.

More liberal rules also have been adopted for exchange of one insurance policy for another. Generally, any gain from these exchanges has been taxable in the past. In the future, most such exchanges will be tax-free. Except you still pay a capital gains tax on any gain from exchanging an endowment policy for a life insurance policy, or for an endowment policy with a later maturity date.

Out on a Limb

Adamsville, N. C. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Ash Whitley has been sleeping in his back yard for the past five summers. His clothes closet has been the limb of a tree. One night recently, a thief took $35 from his pants pocket while he slept.

Paint Rollers Legal

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's Supreme Court has ruled that painters cannot outlaw the use of paint rollers through clauses in union contracts. It rejected a union contention rollers were sloppy, inefficient and dangerous to health.

As Pegler Sees It

a decision of such importance to the world.

We all took a hand at "writing" that piece in the grimy old office in Temple chambers, but this is not to say that Roy needed a ghost. It was just that we all felt some pride in the outfit and the little guy and were flattered to be invited to offer a comma.

As to mankind, the portent was bad, for if those pretentious fools Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Wilhelm had had the sense to compromise, a good deal of western civilization might have been saved which has never been more than hearsay to most of those to whom these presents come.

Nellie Revell is fighting it out at the Flanders on West 47th street. The girl has her feelings but things are rugged at 81, the worse if you are lame and blind, and if she should reject the price of a fight ticket or a round of drinks I will guarantee the return postage.

HIGH JINX—Woodie McDuffie, left, and Doug Morgan, Delray Beach, Fla., eight-year-olds, wonder how sympathetic can you get? When Doug broke his arm, Pal Woodie broke his the next day. When Doug had his tonsils out, Woodie soon followed suit. The same common jinx pursued them through measles and smallpox.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Time of the Cuckoo Opens at Playhouse

Woodstock, August 11—Venice is a long way to go for a brief moment of ecstasy, but the wonderous city of waterways can be as counterfeit as the red glass goblets for sale as antiques in its shops by the dozens. This is the theme of The Time of the Cuckoo which opened its week's run at the Woodstock Playhouse Tuesday night. Barbara Ames as the witty, romantic Leona Samish has captured a good share of the quality of the role created in New York by Shirley Booth, a sort of "Eileen's" sister gone abroad. She's good, she's capable ing setting of a Venetian courtyard enhances the production.

Marvin on Location

With Spencer Tracy

Woodstock, Aug. 10 — Lee Marvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Marvin of Beesville, who has been gaining fame as a featured player in many recent Hollywood pictures, is now on location with Spencer Tracy for the forthcoming MGM picture, Bad Day at Black Rock. The company is at Lone Pine in the California desert where temperatures have been soaring to 130 degrees. Marvin, who played the part of Meatball in the Caine Mutiny, the picture currently running in New York is scheduled to appear next in Not as a Stranger.

This fall Lee Marvin will play the only male role in a production of Joan at the Stake which will be presented in Los Angeles and San Francisco in conjunction with the San Francisco Opera Company. This fairly modern opus by Honneger is a musical version of the drama of Joan of Arc. Marvin will appear with Dorothy McGuire, who plays the role of Joan, in the part of Friar Dominic, her confessor and persecutor. Miss McGuire and Marvin have the only speaking roles in the opera.

Wind-Up Meeting Held for Library Fair Committees

Woodstock, Aug. 12 — At a wind-up meeting for chairman and co-chairmen of the 1954 Woodstock Library Fair, Mrs. George Laws, library president, thanked those present for the excellent work accomplished at the recent fair. She also gave an expression of appreciation to Mrs. Gertrude Robinson and Mrs. Charles Cooper who entertained the Library Fair workers at tea last week, at the home of Mrs. Cooper.

It was announced by Mrs. Laws and Albert Wampler, library treasurer, that a breakdown of the amounts made at each of the tables, and various features, would be released in the near future.

The suggestion was made by Miska Petersham and Jack Marquardt that the public address system during the fair be increased with coverage in the rear of the fair grounds, or that a more adequate amplifier be used.

Workers Thanked

William Stuffer, chairman of the grounds committee, personally thanked the following people who assisted with the setting-up and clean-up of the fair grounds: Wayne Underhill, Jr., and Paul Greenberg, the young members of the group; Dick Peterson and Al Hoffman of Rotron, and the use of the Rotron truck; the Rowe Lumber Company of West Hurley for the loan of 10 two by 12 inch planks; Victor Lasher for putting the canvas over the book tables and for the use of 60 chairs; the Rev. Harvey I. Todd for assistance with the clothing tent; the Town of Woodstock and the superintendent of highways, Albert Cashdollar for the use of the town truck; Frank Bradley and Cashdollar for putting up the tent at the entertainment area; Adolf Heckerroth and two assistants for the assembling of the tables; Harold Reynolds and Andre Neher and Mr. Van Kleeck for assistance in moving merchandise from the collection center to the fair grounds; Jerry Jerominek and Daniel Revzan for placing and taking down the gate; and for the assistance of Jim Smith of the Woodstock Motor Club and Joseph Hutt; the Woodstock Art Gallery for the use of 75 chairs.

Gigi, French Hit, Next at Playhouse

Woodstock, Aug. 10—Gigi, the comedy that launched Audrey Hepburn as a star, will open at the Woodstock Playhouse next Tuesday (Aug. 17), to run through Sunday (Aug. 22), under the direction of Michael Howard. The sophisticated French play follows The Time of the Cuckoo, currently on the Playhouse stage through Sunday, Aug. 15.

Betty Endyk, who was Miss Hepburn's understudy in Gigi, will play the title role. This will be the local debut of the young leading lady, who has been seen on the New York stage in Young and Fair and Time of Storm, and on all the TV networks.

Anita Loos, author of Gentlemen Prefer Blondes, adapted Gigi from a novel by the distinguished French writer, Colette, who died recently. It is the story of a 16-year-old Parisian girl whose mother, grandmother and great-aunt are all ladies of easy morals. Their plans to have Gigi carry on in the traditional family career are foiled when she falls in love.

Bernard Kates, a versatile favorite of the Playhouse this summer, will play opposite Miss Endyk as the jaded, wealthy Gaston Lachaille. Ruth Manning will be seen in the role of Gigi's mother, a somewhat worn but still ambitious opera singer. The conniving great-aunt and grandmother will be played respectively by Jane Lloyd-Jones and Barbara Ames, and Michael Lewin will appear as the butler.

President Says Future Prospects Good in Economy

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today that a recent decline in the state of America's economic health had "come to a halt" by the middle of this year. He said prospects for the future look good.

Making public an administration mid-year economic survey, the President said the "recent economic decline" has been "very small."

The Eisenhower report said economic activity of late "has been higher than at any time before this administration assumed responsibility."

Then the President declared: "And since 1953 was a still better year than 1954 is turning out to be, it follows that overall performance of the American economy thus far during this administration has been better than during any earlier time."

Eisenhower said 1952 was the best year before his regime took office.

The administration survey in this congressional election year seemed certain to provide political ammunition during the campaign for both Republicans and Democrats.

Last winter some Democrats were contending that, with unemployment increasing, the administration was leading the nation into a depression.

Eisenhower and other Republican leaders disagreed sharply with the Democrats, and there have been GOP contentions lately that the over-all economic activity was on the upswing.

Joblessness Diminishes

The President said in today's report that unemployment "is now greater than during the time of the Korean war."

But at the time he said joblessness in recent months has shown some tendency to diminish of late. This is one of the numerous signs of economic improvement.

Among other such signs Eisenhower said, are these:

"Retail sales have been recently rising again. Business expenditures on capital expansion and improvement are continuing at high rate. New construction contracts are running well above the level of a year ago."

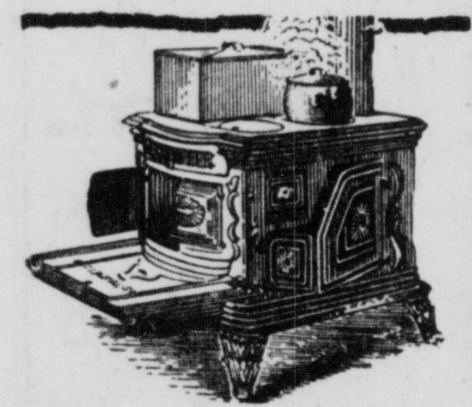

"Inventories have been reduced and are now in better adjustment to current sales. The financial markets have been displaying great strength. The level of business and consumer confidence in the economic future is high and improving."

The President said the economic program being enacted by the present Congress "marks a milestone in constructive legislation." He said the program, which he did not detail will help reduce unemployment and stimulate enterprise and development in all directions.

"In the months and years ahead, we must continue to bring knowledge, cool judgment, and a concern for people to the consideration of economic problems," the report said. "In the measure that we do this, we may look forward with great confidence to the future."

To Build Radar Towers

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—The air force says it plans to spend more than a million dollars apiece for a string of radar towers to be spotted in the moderately shallow water about 100 miles off the Atlantic coast. The air force announcement yesterday did not give the number of towers planned in a move to give added warning of the possible approach of enemy bombers. Reportedly the chain will extend from Newfoundland to Norfolk, Va. The tall sentinel posts, named "Texas Towers" because of their resemblance to offshore oil drilling rigs in the Gulf of Mexico, are designed to spot planes which might pass undetected through a more distant string of radar warning craft.

Pro Musica Antiqua To Premiere Works At Lenox Festival

The first festival in America devoted entirely to music of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance will be presented in Lenox, Mass., from August 13 to 29. The festival will consist of six concerts featuring several American premieres of works that have not been performed for many centuries.

The concerts will be presented at the Lenox Town Hall by the Primavera singers and players of the New York Pro-Musica Antiqua.

This group was organized at the beginning of 1953 by its present directors, Noah Greenberg and Bernard Krainin, to make possible, for the first time in the United States, the presentation by professional musicians, of the great musical masterpieces of the Middle Ages, the Renaissance, and the early Baroque. The music of these times is acknowledged by scholars as one of the great achievements of artistic man.

In the United States, the most serious attempt toward public performance of this music, uncovered by musicologists only in the past 50 years, was made by Paul Hindemith, as founder and director of the Yale Collegium Musicum. Modern composers have found the music of the Middle Ages and Renaissance a fresh source of inspiration.

The New York Pro Musica Antiqua plans to establish the festival as an annual event in the Berkshires.

DUTY AS A GOOD FRIEND

A letter this morning explains: "I have a friend who has a habit of repeating herself. She has told me things that I have heard time and time again and I am bored to death hearing about them, but hesitate to say anything to her for fear of hurting her feelings. Would it be considered rude to tell her that I have heard the story, or incident, before? Or does good manners demand that I listen attentively and say nothing. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

It is not considered rude to tell a real friend, "Mary, dear, you've told me that" and help her break a habit which will become an even greater detriment to her if it goes on.

Bringing Boy Home

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening after the movies I asked my date into the house for a cold drink before going home. My parents were seated in the living room and had guests visiting them. I did not go into the living room but went straight to the kitchen. After the guests had gone, my mother took me to task for not bringing my date into the living room to meet the guests. She said I was very rude. Will you please tell me if this was necessary?

Answer: I'm sorry but I can't agree with your mother. To go out into the kitchen, have a drink, let him go home and then join your mother's guests was the proper thing for you to do.

No Parents to Send Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married next month and am not sure how my wedding invitations should be worded. Both my parents are dead and I am living with my grandmother. I have an older married brother of whom I am very fond and who is giving me away. Should my brother's or my grandmother's name head the invitations?

Answer: Since you are living with grandmother, the invitations should go out in her name.

What dress is worn to a "semiformal" party by both men and women.

Olin Dows to Exhibit In Art Show Friday At Hyde Park

The third annual exhibition of art of the Mid-Hudson region sponsored by the Hyde Park Free Library will be opened Friday at 10:30 a. m. by Mrs. Olin Dows, wife of the internationally known aquarealist, of Rhinebeck.

Mrs. Dows, the former Carmen Vial Senoret, served as minister to Holland from Chile, S.A., and has taken an interest in the art world since her marriage to Olin Dows.

Locally, Mr. Dows is best known for his murals in the post office buildings at Rhinebeck and Hyde Park, and for the book he wrote and illustrated on the home scenes of Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park. Olin Dows will have two watercolors depicting local scenes at the current show.

"We are certainly happy to be honored in this manner," William Robert Wood, general chairman of the exhibition, said. "Mrs. Dows is well informed on current American art trends and any suggestions she is willing to make will be most helpful as we hope to see this annual event become one of truly dominant value among the art features of Eastern New York."

Mr. Wood said that in addition to Mr. Dows there are many other well-known professional artists and top-ranking amateurs who have already indicated they would participate. "Last year a fine representation was present from this quality group and there is every indication the percentage will be even higher this time."

Hostesses are on duty to assist the visitors in securing any information desired concerning the art work, artists, and whether the picture is offered for sale. The event is for the benefit of the Library.

Not Even Scratched

Detroit, Aug. 11 (AP)—"It was so nice and clean I didn't know it was there," Edward Kubasiewicz said. He was explaining how he happened to walk right through a 20-by-70 inch plate glass window in a front door at police headquarters. Kubasiewicz was on his way to get a driver's license. He wasn't even scratched.

Caine Mutiny Opens At Broadway Theatre

Engulfing the screen with tidal-wave fury, Columbia Pictures' motion picture version of The Caine Mutiny, the Pulitzer Prize best-seller by Herman Wouk, opened Wednesday at the air-conditioned Broadway Theatre.

Produced by Stanley Kramer, in color by Technicolor, The Caine Mutiny stars two Academy Award winners, Humphrey Bogart and Jose Ferrer, as well as Van Johnson and Fred MacMurray, in, for them, off-beat roles.

The Caine Mutiny stars, as well, the United States Navy which helped to make the film as spectacular and as exciting as the army did for Columbia's Academy Award-winning, From Here to Eternity.

Great as a novel, The Caine Mutiny is even greater as a motion picture. The film's scope is as big as the ocean on whose seething mass much of its action takes place. It has everything a movie can have; power, sweep, action, romance, and above all, drama. The Caine Mutiny is the age-old story of man against the sea, and man against himself.

The Mature Parent

What 'Adolescent's Struggle For Independence' Really Is

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

SOME weeks ago, I heard psychoanalyst Erich Fromm express this thought which I jotted down to report to parents of adolescent children:

"The child's struggle to get away from mother is the conflict with his wish to return to her."

I hope readers of this column will also jot this sentence down. It can set them straight in times of strain and foreboding. For it takes that value phrase — "the adolescent's struggle for independence" — and defines it for us.

It tells us what he struggles against. It tells us that his adversary in this struggle is not his parent, but his own fear of independence. It tells us that when he is most violently demanding his independence, he is most deeply wishing to remain dependent.

Heretofore, most of us have assumed that we were the adversary in the adolescent's "struggle for independence."

Overanxious, guilt-ridden creatures that we are, we've thought that our 16-year-old Jane was fighting us when she insists on coming home when she pleases from a party.

We've believed that Bill was attacking us when we refused to enthusias over his new girl.

The truth is that Jane has been really fighting her wish to do as mother says; and all the time Bill's resentful attack upon our opinions has been his desire to accept our opinions.

If Bill and Jane felt no need to cling to us, the struggle to get away from us would be as effortless and unresentful as the fall of fruit from its tree.

Can we see then that the more violent their pulls away from us, the deeper the need to remain with us?

If we can see it, then we are armed against the hopeless discouragement that overwhelms us under attack by Jane and Bill.

No longer their adversary, we can remember that Jane and Bill are defying, not us, but their own wishes to recoil from the responsibility of making up their own minds about the party and the girl. We can say, "But you know what is right for you to do just as well as I do."

We cannot say this sincerely to a child when we are moved by anxiety about him. But if we are moved by compassion for our young creature's uncertainty between the pull to remain our baby and the pull to trust himself, we can say it sincerely.

It is compassion that Dr. Fromm's words should arouse in us.

And enable us to express it so that it quiets our child's self-distrust.

Then he, too, can believe that he knows what is right for him to do.

Many Entries Listed In Shows, Events For Rhinebeck Fair

Dutchess County Fair directors have set up a high premium list and budget for the 109th fair at Rhinebeck, Tuesday, Aug. 31, through Saturday, Sept. 4.

Mrs. Joseph Bruyette, superintendent of entries, reports a great number of entries in dairy and beef cattle, the three horse shows, and the flower shows.

Cattle entries close Sunday with

Saturday, Aug. 21, the final day for filing entries in the horse shows.

The 130-foot former Guernsey barn has been painted a light blue inside, a black-top flooring has been applied and fluorescent lights are being installed to make this one of the finest exhibit buildings in the state. This building will add another 6,000 square feet of free exhibits to the fair.

Among the new events this year will be open and 4-H Club sheep shearing contests in the new sheep show ring at 2 p. m., Thursday, Sept. 2. The pet show is scheduled at 3 p. m. on opening day, Tuesday, Aug. 31, when all children will be admitted free to the grounds.

There will be a milk production derby for dairy cattle on the grounds, open to all breeds.

William I. Craft, chairman of Grange exhibits, announces that work is well underway in both subordinate and juvenile Grange sections.

Fair directors this year have booked the King Reid shows for the fair. This will mark the first time in many years that the King Reid shows, rated one of the largest and finest carnivals in the country, has played at Rhinebeck.

"TO BE IN YOUR SHOES"

This expression alludes to a legal custom in England which dates back as far as 1834. At that time, children (others) about to be adopted would put on a pair of the master's shoes to show the importance and closeness of the ceremony.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Could it be that radio and now television have removed piano lessons and the practice period from youngsters of today. Years back from every residential street one could hear the careful piano practice of small fingers after school hours. Sometimes if the window was open, one could even hear them count. Some went to the piano teacher's home for a lesson and sometimes the teacher came to the pupil's house. When the music teacher arrived, everything had to be in readiness, the light right, the proper music on the dustless piano and of course, the money for her instructions. When the student was sent to her home, there was preparation too. "Hope you know your lesson, after all it costs me money," the average mother told her child and made sure the pupil's hands were clean. After school hours and on Saturdays one saw many music students with their flat or rolled music portfolios. Now I never see them.

Looking back in the 1923 Kingston Directory I see some 30 music teachers listed and I knew of several which were not listed. For instance I took lessons first from Miss Silverstein, corner West Union and Broadway. She not only gave lessons but also would allow you to practice on her piano if you did not have one in your home. As I remember I think she charged 25 cents a lesson and had most of her students. She had a big square grand piano on the third floor of the then Silverstein Building. I remember going there in the evening when she would carefully bring out and light two decorative little kerosene lamps which were placed on each end of the piano. She was a lady of the old school, never lost her temper and sweetly counted out all the notes for us. I did not like to practice nor to take lessons and when she came to my house to give lessons sometimes I tried to hide from her but she and my father always found me.

From 30 music teachers in 1923 the list fell to 26 in 1938 and then to 22 music teachers in 1950. Some instructors were called "professors" like Prof. William H. Rieser of 69 West Chester street. He had a large number of students. I remember my father liked a certain music composition which he wanted me to study but Prof. Rieser liked light English tunes better so tried to talk me out of my choice, but I would play no other so till this day I still enjoy playing it. There was also Prof. L. Sutor of 462 Broadway who played very delicately and liked to talk to my father about the old country. He was never in a hurry and treated all his young students as little ladies and gentlemen. There was Miss Regina M. Smith of 60 Ann street, a very lovely person, who tried to get me to memorize. She tried diligently but I was not the memorizing type.

Some of the teachers listed in both 1923 and 1938 were Arthur Alton of 363 Hasbrouck avenue, and W. Whiting Frederburgh of 142 Clinton avenue. Mrs. Asenath Hayes was listed for voice and piano at 20 Green street; Ethel Mauterstock at 103 Hone street; Lina and Sophie SchmidtKonz moved from 72 Hone street to 211 Washington avenue in those years. Charles Shotts moved from 119 Prospect street to 11 Ponckhockie street. One of the well-known teachers of the early 1920's was Harry Dodge of 63 Green street.

Moore Kayoes Johnson In Fourteenth Round; Gets Maxim for 100Gs

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—A spectacular "called shot" technical knockout over Harold Johnson in the 14th round added luster to light heavyweight champion Archie Moore's great record today.

Now the 37½-year-old Moore will seek to fatten his bankroll with a Sept. 23 title fight in Omaha against either Joey Maxim or Jimmy Slade.

Maxim, beaten three out of three by the magnificent Moore, appears more likely to get the payday. His wily manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns will meet sometime today with Charles Johnston, Moore's manager, and members of the Omaha Centennial Committee to talk turkey.

After stopping the fast-punching, solidly built Johnson in a dramatic come-from-behind fashion for his 19th straight victory, Moore said he'd like to fight either heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano or Don Cockell, the British heavyweight king.

Manager Johnston, a realistic soul, said "Marciano has that Sept. 15 title fight with Ezzard Charles and I know Cockell doesn't want any part of Archie. We want the dough and they're offering Archie $100,000 to fight in Omaha. We're ready."

Calls the Shot
Moore was ready, too, when Johnston told him to go out and "get" Johnson in the 14th.

"I'll knock him out in this round," Johnston said Moore calmly told him. He did in just 56 seconds.

The crouching champion tore after his tiring rival, staggered him with a right to the chin, and then rained blows on his sagging rival. Johnson fell on his back in his own corner.

The Philadelphia Negro clamored up at six but his legs were rubbery. Referee Ruby Goldstein forgetting that the eight count knockdown was not in force for this championship contest, continued tolling until eight.

Then the aroused champion smashed his stricken foe with both hands. As Johnson started to sag again, Goldstein stepped in and stopped the slaughter. Johnson decked Moore in the 10th with a right behind the ear to win that round. If the fight had been a ten rounder, Harold would have won. All three officials had him ahead then. Goldstein had it 5-3-2, Judge Bert Grant 5-4-1 and Judge Arthur Aidala, 7-3.

At the end of the 13th Aidala (8-5) and Goldstein (6-5-2) still had the challenger in front. Grant called it even in rounds 6-6-1 but had Moore ahead on points 9-8. The Associated Press had Johnson in the lead, 7-5-1.

Hobart Armstrong of the Sprague Electric Dodgers and Charlie Boice of the Moore Lodge hooked up in another of those Christy Mathewson-Three Fingered-Brown pitching duels in the American Little League yesterday.

And Hobart hit the daily double by pitching a 2-hit, 1-0, shut-out victory for his seventh straight win. The Spragues, meanwhile were rolling to their 11th consecutive success.

Strikes Out Nine

Armstrong walked only one batter and fanned nine, while Boice gave up four hits, walked four and struck out six.

The scoreless duel was shattered with two fast extra base blows in the sixth inning. Armstrong tripped to deep center and Ken Siekler followed with a double. It was over as fast as that.

The league has announced that the remainder of the games will start at 6:15 p. m.

4 Missing From Camp Find Way Out of Woodland

Two girls and two boys lost in the foothills of the Catskill Mountains near Mountain Dale for 24 hours walked out of the woods this morning "none the worse for wear."

The four left St. Agnes Villa, a Roman Catholic camp for boys and girls in Sullivan county, about 9 a. m. yesterday and were reported missing when they failed to return by 4 p. m.

They were Thomas Heffernan, 18, of 808 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn; his sister, Florence, 15; Nicholas Schade, 15, of 2853

45th street, Astoria, L. I. and Patricia Wood, 18, of 3094 61st street, Woodside, L. I.

A posse of about 12 or 15 men, including troopers of the Wurtsboro Station, pressed a search of the area until 2:30 a. m. and suspended until dawn.

Troopers said the four came out of the woods at Glen Wild a couple of miles from the camp.

A spokesman for the camp told The Freeman that the four had built a fire in a sheltered spot and had managed to get some sleep, despite the night chill.

Touhy Goes Back To Jail Once More

Chicago, Aug. 12 (AP)—After two days of freedom, Roger (The Terrible) Touhy, was back in jail today and faced the possibility of spending the rest of his life in prison.

The 56-year-old prohibition era gangster's brief period of liberty, after more than 20 years in prison was ended yesterday on order of the U. S. Court of Appeals. The court ruled that Touhy must be held in Stateville prison pending a hearing of the state's appeal of his release.

Touhy was freed on a $10,000 bond Monday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes. He ruled that the Capone era gang leader's 99-year sentence of 1934 for the kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor was procured on perjured testimony.

A few hours after the Appeals Court ruling, Touhy surrendered in the U. S. Marshal's office and was taken to the Cook county jail and held overnight. Touhy, who was fishing in the nearby Fox Lake region when news of the court action reached him, had little to say. "Not very long out," was his only comment.

Coldest August 12

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—This was the coldest Aug. 12 in the history of the New York Weather Bureau—by one-tenth of a degree. At 5:05 a. m. the mercury slipped to 56.3 degrees, just clipping a record set in 1889. The forecast called for fair weather and a high in the 70's both today and tomorrow, with tonight's temperatures again in the 50's. Just 13 days ago the record high temperature for 1954, 96.3, was set.

The Red Sea owes its name to marine organisms of a reddish color, which tint its surface waters.

McKinney Says He Won Money

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 12 (AP)—Debonaire George Patrick McKinney claims money he won from gambling—not a bank robbery he is accused of—staked him to a premium automobile agency.

He told the FBI yesterday that $78,000 he won in Las Vegas, Nev., casinos was used to buy the dealership.

The money, he declared, did not come from the $190,319 he is charged with getting in a hold-up of the Franklin National Bank in Floral Park, N. Y., on Aug. 18, 1953.

He insisted he did not rob the bank.

McKinney, 27, known here as Wade Patrick Johnson until the FBI linked him by fingerprints with the New York bank robbery, remained under $200,000 temporary bond, awaiting a removal hearing before U. S. Commissioner T. V. Cashin.
